

LifeScape® Whole Life Insurance Policy

Maximize the benefits, minimize your cost with a Term Insurance Rider!

Owning a LifeScape® Whole Life Insurance policy has many advantages – lifetime protection, cash values that can be accessed for a variety of needs, special rider options and solid guarantees.

Traditionally considered the “gold standard” of life insurance protection, whole life offers a variety of benefits no other single financial product can match.

But if your protection needs are substantial – for example, protecting a young family, a new business or a mortgage – you may wonder if whole life insurance is within your budget.

The reality is that a LifeScape Whole Life Insurance policy can be very affordable over the long term; in fact, it can actually be a better value than term insurance. The premiums are higher in the beginning but remain level throughout your life. Plus, the policy’s cash value accumulation can provide a source of funds for the future.

Many whole life policies are sold in tandem with an optional term insurance rider to maximize protection but keep the cost low. The term rider also provides the opportunity to increase the amount of permanent protection over time by converting some of the term coverage as financial circumstances allow.

The following example for $500,000 total coverage illustrates how you can achieve a larger death benefit at a lower total cost by varying the whole life policy and level term rider amounts:

Male, Age 35, Select Non-Tobacco $500,000 Total Face Amount	Total Annual Premium
	1,000	2,000	3,000	4,000	5,000	6,000
$500,000 Whole Life Premium: $6,175						$6,175
$250,000 Whole Life Premium: $3,088 + $250,000 10-Year Level Term Rider* Premium: $315			$3,403
$100,000 Whole Life Premium: $1,407 + $400,000 10-Year Level Term Rider* Premium: $504		$1,911

* 10-Year Level Term Rider coverage expires and is not renewable beyond the 10-year term period.
